„Economy of the families affected by the covid-19 era and lessons learned”.

During the last period the families were the centre of life, work and leisure with remote work changing a lot the family life. What and how much is the contribution of the family to the Economy of the state and society versus how much the state/society is assisting the families in this period? Do we need to change something in the Economy of Europe when we are looking to the first contributors of the Economy as the first factories (the families)?
